EpiPens in First Aid Kits in Schools
Due to a new initiative by the Government of Western Australia, all schools can now have EpiPens in their First Aid Kits. Teachers and teacher assistants have training once a year to recognize and treat Anaphylaxis. It is possible that a student who has not been previously diagnosed will have their first anaphylactic reaction at school. Administering adrenaline can reverse potentially life threatening symptoms such as difficulty/noisy breathing, swelling/tightness in the throat or loss of consciousness and/or collapse, within minutes.

For further information: posters, fact sheets and brochures can be downloaded from the Western Australian Department of Health Anaphylaxis website www.health.wa.gov.au/anaphylaxis.
