mangia Cookbook
The mangia cookbook was launched with overwhelming success on the 8th of November. The school has sold almost 400 copies in the first two weeks! Get yours now. There is still time to send them overseas for fabulous Christmas presents. Ask friends, family, and co-workers to support our school by buying a copy - or three! Cookbooks can be purchased from the office, or look for Jack the Scarecrow and the mangia table every Thursday afternoon and Friday morning for the rest of term. We will also be selling at the George Street Festival in East Fremantle on the 1st December.

Fundraising for next year’s Graduation trip to Italy!
Yes, we are getting in early! There will be an Adolescent Programme shop on Friday 29th November from 2.30pm. Come prepared to buy afternoon tea while you decide what student made products to buy as Christmas presents for friends and family! We are also planning a sausage sizzle for Thursday 28th November - order forms will be sent out soon!

Bee arrival
The bees have arrived! The culmination of lots of time and effort by the adolescent students paid off when the bees were delivered by Rob Manning from the Department of Agriculture and Food. Several students wore special protective gear and assisted Rob in transferring the bees to their new homes from the ‘nuc’ (short for nucleus, a small box with four frames of bees, including a queen). The students were able to identify the worker bees, drones and the queen and recognise the difference between them.

Rob had this to say about the bee site:
I was most impressed with your apiary site, in fact quietly stunned at the effort, and every other beekeeper should have one modelled on it! Good to see enthusiastic students who thought bees were "so cute!"

Thank you so much to all the people who assisted the adolescent programme to reach this point. The development of the site in particular took a long time, but comparing the before and after photos now, it is no wonder why! Also thanks must go to the Town of Mosman Park for the grant of $2267 to enable us to buy the protective clothing and beekeeping equipment. The students are looking forward to the practical aspects of beekeeping now after learning the theory......and ‘bee’ prepared next year for organic honey sales at the Adolescent Programme shop!

Sibling Enrolments
Please complete an application form if you have a sibling that is yet to be enrolled.

End of Year Concert
The concert will be held on Thursday 5th December at The Octagon Theatre between 6.00 and 7.30 pm.

All students are asked to report to their teachers outside the venue at 5.30 pm. It is great if they go home at lunch time for a rest and early dinner before the big event!

Details about costumes/colours to wear will be sent soon.

PALS Award
At the recent PALS (Partnership Acceptance Learning Sharing) Awards, Beehive won a ‘Special Acknowledgement’ award. This was in recognition of our NAIDOC celebration held in July, when every student participated in an art activity and incursion organised through our RAP (Reconciliation Action Plan) Committee.

More recycling information from Planet Ark!
Since household collections began about 25 years ago, recycling has undergone a series of revolutions in Australia. To celebrate National Recycling Week 2013 Planet Ark has released a report titled Recycling Revolution, which outlines seven of these revolutions, including information of how you can get involved. Those revolutions are:

- e-waste
  - 40,000 tonnes of televisions and computers were recycled in 2012-13. Find out how to recycle your e-waste for free.

The recycling rate for packaging increased from 39.2% to 63.8% in ten years. Find out if you recycle right at home.

- Soft plastics
  - All of the plastic bags you use at home can now be recycled including bags, packets and trays. Find out where and how.

- Mobiles & cartridges
  - There are more old and unwanted mobile phones in Australia than there are people. Find out where to recycle you old mobiles.

The Clay House
We have some exciting programs coming up at The Clay House. This is a busy time of year and I know all the kids get out of school for the holidays at different times, so we have some courses for gift making to keep the kids busy during the week, or a fun family elf making event on the weekend. Visit our website TheClayHouse or Email us for more information at TheClayHouseStudios@gmail.com
